

Gawain – Blue Team – 2000

Spoken:

This is a love song
I'm sure you can all relate
About the times at home,
Lying in bed,
Wide awake
Remembering the moments that Tamakwa shared
Never realizing how much you really cared

And I can't forget
Your fires burning bright
As the wind whispers
Sweet nothings in the night
When we realize
Here we're not alone
Tamakwa is Heaven's second home

Chorus

Group 1

Even though we change
Our feelings are the same
And we continue to grow

Tamakwa cries
Feeling empty inside
When we leave this home

And I can't forget
You blanketing my heart
Fill in the pieces
Past lovers tore apart
Paddle me past the slope
Paddle me through the trees
We've dissolved the line
Between memory and dream

And I can't forget
The day I heard the news
Thought that time was not
A thing that's ours to lose
Wind blows my hair
And I hear the memories
The nostalgic sense
Of my fading company

Bridge (2nd guitar)

The moon was so beautiful
The lake held up a mirror for the stars

Chorus (x2)

Group 2

No, I'll never let you go

No, I'll never let you go

Lancelot – Yellow Team – 2000

Early morning mist on the lake
To the east, the rising sun
Lighting up the clear blue skies
A new day has begun
Refresh the land, give us hope,
To start over once again
Another day, another way
To make another friend

The quiet solitude of Tamakwa
Creating friendships found in dreams
Opening a brave new world
That is not what it seems
A place to come for everyone
A child, a father, or teen
An extravagant land of beauty
To the city remains unseen

Chorus:

Where boys and girls become women and men
Our memories become a blur
Of that time when we were best
Of who we thought we were
Who knows what the future may bring us today
The sun is out to give you love, and guide the way
The sun to guide the way

All times and seasons are the reasons
To the constant light shining down
Spreading all its love
Turning to each other now
We all play our part
With the spirit of Algonquin
Always remaining in your heart

Bridge:

Everyone's together
Everyone's alone
Nothing is for certain
Everything's unknown
Darkness is appealing
To those without a friend
The presence of the morning light
Shows loneliness the end
Giving us the power to live another day

Chorus

The sun sets down on the western skies
And vanishes out of view
Leaving us to rest our thoughts
With tomorrow to start anew
On the other side of the world
A new day had begun
To give them light, to connect us all
The brilliance of the sun

Chorus (x2)
